Dick went over, and, going out to where the old man was shelling corn to the pigs, said:

"Mr. Hogrow, I suppose—"

"I don't suppose anything, sir."

"Well, then, you doubtless know—"

"I don't know anything."

"That's all right then. I am going to marry your daughter, and by next corn planting time you'll know something. Do you weaken, Mr. Hozrow?"

"See here, young feller, I can't afford to lose my gal. I have had powerful bad luck this season. The cutworms begun on the corn by the time it came up, and the bugs pitched into the cotton; and to make things worse, my best mule and one of my cows got into a fight the other day. The cow hooked the mule, and the mule kicked the cow until both died. So under these circumstances, I'd rather you'd marry semebody else."

"I don't accept your misfortunes as excuses. I'm going to marry the girl."

"I'll tell you what I!l do, Dick. I'll make this arrangement: Wo'll wrestle; and if you throw me the gal's your'n. If I'throw you, she's mine. If you marry her against my will, I shall pleasantly exterminate you. If you throw me and marry her, this farm, together with the gal, is your'n. I'll give three trials, one to-day, one three weeks from now, and the other six weeks."

Dick was compelled to agree, although the old man was recognized as the best wrestler in the county. He had challenged everybody and had thrown everybody who had accepted. After eating dinner, the old man announced his willingness to take the first bailot. The contestants, including the girl, went into the yard, the girl took the hats and the contestants, including the girl, went into the yard, the girl took the hats and the men grappled each other. The signal was given and Dick went over the old man's head and plowed a short furrow in the ground.

"Give me my hat," he said to the girl.
"Don't give up," she remarked, handing over his tile. "Go away and prac-ing over his tile. "Go away and practice."

Dick left, discouraged, but taking the advice, wrestled with steamboat men and farmers with the time for the next trial came. At the appointed time Dick appeared at Hogrow's residence.

"Feel like you can cut your capers putty well?" asked the old man.

"I think so. I feel that fay cause is just, and with the aid of kind Providence I hope to pile you."

"Providence comes in putty handy at times," said the old man, pulling off his coat, "but it's a hard matter to buck agin an old stager. Get outen your jacket. If I fall the gal and the farm is yourn. Four hundred acres, and all under fence. Gal weighs one hundred and fifty. Big inducements." The two men grappled, and sgain Dick plowed up the say. "Don't give up," said the girl.

"No," said the old man, "for the land is under fence, and the gal weighs one hundred and fifty—can handle a hoe wonderful!"

The South Carolina Cotton Crop.

The cotton report of this State for August is compiled from the replies of sixty-two correspondents in thirty counties, the average date being August 30th. The character of the weather during August is reported by twenty-seven as favorable to the cotton crop. As compared with the same period last year, twelver report it as more favorable, five about the same, and forty-five as less favorable; twenty-two report the cotton crop as fruiting well and retaining its aquares and bolls, while the remaining complain of considerable shedding.

As to the present condition of the crop, and its comparison with the same time inst year, twenty-three report the same to be better, nine about the same, and thirty not as good.

Picking is universally reported as having commenced, and will become general, even in the upper counties, by the 15th of September. No bijury has been cone by worms. The damage to the plant by seventeen to be very slight, forty estimate the damage to a amount to from 5 to 33 per cent. averaging 20 per cent., while two report no darings at all from these causes.

The number of cattle Eliled per you have the firm the United States is 11,285,000,000.

HALL IMPROVED COTTON GIN. DANIEL PRATT GIN CO.S

A S THE GINNING SEASON is about to commence, it would be to the interest of all who expect to carry on the Ginning business to be careful in the selection of the best machine. It was our object when we started the Gin business to sell the best Gin made in the United States, and we claim that we have succeeded.

Our PRATT GIN is equal to all, and far superior to many Gins now being offered for sale. We never make a sale without a guarantee of perfect satisfaction, and claim nothing for the Gin that we cannot fully substantiate.

As we are engaged largely in Cotton Buying, as well as the General Merchandise business, it is to our interest that every Ginner should use the best Gin. We have bought the past season about 4000 bales of Cotton which was ginned on the Pratt Gin, and in every instance it brought the highest prices.

From the many certificates in our possession we are gratified with the results, and refer you to the following named gentlemen, who are now using the PRATT GIN, and abide their decision:—
